Faubus Won't Shun 'Responsibilities'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Although admittedly weary of school desegregation difficulties, Gov. Orval F. Faubus says he will not shrink from his responsibilities in any new school crisis.

Faubus said Wednesday he did not want to use his police powers again in dealing with integration strife.

"I have no desire to test my powers," he said. "But don't misunderstand me, I won't shrink from responsibility that is mine to put down any disturbance."

Tension has risen over impending integration at the Dollarway School District, 42 miles southeast of here near Pine Bluff. Residents there have asked the governor to use all his powers to keep three Negroes from entering the 1,150-pupil all-white Dollarway School.

A federal judge has ordered the Negroes admitted when school opens Sept. 8. The school district appealed the ruling to the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis. A hearing is set for Monday.

Witnesses Heard in Nursing Home Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Pulaski County Grand Jury heard six more witnesses yesterday in its investigation into conditions in nursing homes over the state.

Jury Foreman Phil Dulin declined to say when the jury would meet again. It has heard a total of 39 witnesses during several meetings on the matter.

Well-known Commissioner Carl Adams was among yesterday's witnesses.

The grand jury launched the probe after Gov. Orval F. Faubus charged at a press conference that shocking conditions existed in some nursing homes.

Famous Doctor Undergoes Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Thomas A. Doley, 52, who gained world attention for his medical work in the jungles of Laos, underwent cancer surgery Thursday.

The three-hour operation removed a chest tumor. His condition was described as good at Sloan-Kettering Cancer Research Center of Memorial Hospital.

The hospital said the lung was not affected and there were no complications.

Doley, a native of St. Louis, became interested in tropical medicine while a Navy medical officer.

Discussing his illness, Doley estimated he might have five or six years to live with "this excruciating type of cancer." He has expressed his determination to return to his hospital at Laos and spend his remaining days at work there.

HOPE STAR, HOPE, ARKANSAS

Faubus Tired of Integration Squabble

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval F. Faubus said today he was "tired" of the integration squabble in Arkansas but he would not "shrink from any responsibility."

Faubus said he had no desire to test again his police powers by calling out either the Arkansas National guard or state police to meet an integration problem at a school near Pine Bluff.

The governor ordered out the national guard in 1957 to stop nine Negroes from integrating Little Rock Central High School. He insisted he did it to prevent violence. Later federal troops were moved in by President Eisenhower to enforce the court-ordered integration.

At a news conference, Faubus said he would like to see the integration problem in Arkansas solved.

"I was weary of it before it started," he added.

The governor told newsmen he was gathering information on the situation at the Dollarway school near Pine Bluff where a federal court has ordered the admission of three Negroes to the all-white school.

Faubus did not elaborate on his plans to meet the Dollarway situation should he be called on by local authorities. He has repeatedly said he would never use his powers to enforce integration.

Faubus said he had not seen the television program Sunday in which Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) criticized the governor's handling of the Little Rock integration situation. When a newsmen related the criticism, Faubus replied:

"I will only repeat what I have said before to those who are critical of my actions: how would they have handled it?"

Congress Working on Interest Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Time and hard-core Democratic opposition worked today against congressional action this session on President Eisenhower's repeated demand for repeal of the interest rate ceiling on government bonds.

House leaders, however, still left the door open to the chance of passage of legislation raising the interest rate on "E" and "H" Savings Bonds from 3 to 3 1/2 percent. These are the kinds of bonds bought by individuals.

saddle and run over to Jim Levening. His eyes were wide open and he could look at me, but he couldn't seem to speak or move. He was shot through the body, low down. He was alive, but I couldn't see him with a ghost of a chance, hit the way he was.

"Well, there's a spring yonder in the timber and I went over there for a half of water. On the way I had to pass close to Bredeon. One look was enough to tell he was as dead as he'd ever be. So I brought water to Jim Levening, tied him up as best I could, got him across his saddle and took him home. I was sure he'd be dead, time I got there, but he wasn't."

"What about Bredeon?" Sandy shrugged. "An end some of the boys buried Bredeon yonder at the edge of the timber." They rode over to the spot and Grady Haskell looked down at a long, narrow rectangle of slightly mounded earth, already beginning to sod over with new grass. There was no marker of any sort.

Haskell reined the dun around. "We'll get along to Hayfork headquarters, now."

They made the ride without incident and for the most part in silence. As they came up the long meadow, Haskell nodded an indignant head.

"As pretty a setting for a ranch headquarters as I ever saw. I can understand Tendler's wishes to own it."

"Me, too," admitted Sandy. "But I don't like his ideas on how to hold of it."

They topped the slope and moved in on the buildings. Katherine Levening, crisp and pretty in a simple gingham house dress, stepped from the ranchhouse door. Her greeting was grave and direct.

"I've been waiting for you," she told Haskell. "Come in, please."

She led the way across a large, restful living room, along a short hall, then paused at a door opening off this.

"In here," she said softly. "He is sleeping, which Doctor Venable says is the one best medicine for him."

The sick room was shadowed and Haskell had to stand close to the bedside to get clear view of the face of the man lying there. It was a gaunt face, the face of one who has gone far down into the depths before beginning the desperate climb back.

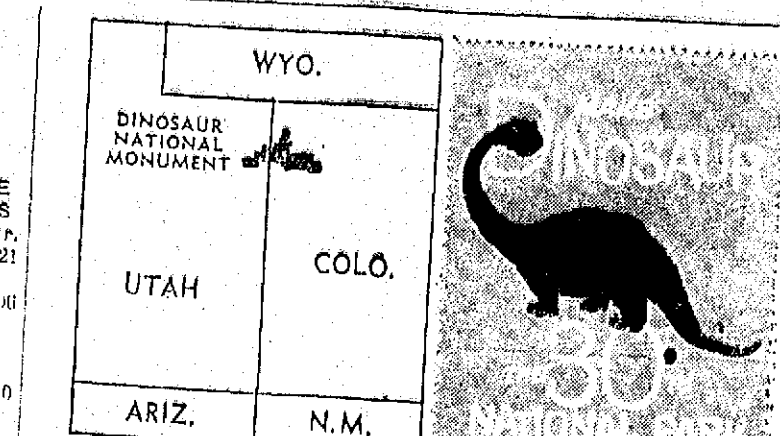

Sandy shaved him last night. Haskell studied the face on the pillow. Despite its present gaunt aspect, it contained a strong, certain character and worth. As if confirming a conclusion previously arrived at, Haskell nodded as he turned away.

"Thank you," he said, "for letting me see him."

Back in the living room Katherine Levening confronted Grady Haskell with just a trace of her old anxiety.

"I'm wondering," he said soberly, "why you feared the law so much?"

Sandy went on: "It's always been Tendler's ambition to settle day own Hayfork. I got it figured that he believed Katherine Levening would some day marry him, which would give him the ranch. Knowing now that would never happen, he's out to go after Hayfork any way he can."

"Yes, it adds," Haskell agreed. "How many head of cattle does Hayfork run?"

Sandy considered, frowning. "There ain't been a range count lately, what with things being upset the way they are. But offhand, I'd say between 1,000 and 1,200 head."

"Which," Haskell declared, "is a pretty sizable outfit."

"Sure it is. It's no two-bit place, not by a long way. It's a hell of a mouth water."

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "The smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and, just recently, Chevrolet received the N.A.S.C.A.R. Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy outstopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

Alford Won Election by 1,948 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Elections Subcommittee today found that Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) won last November's election contest from Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) by a margin of 1,948 votes.

Chairman Robert T. Ashmore (D-SC) announced that he subcommittee found Alford received 31,247 votes to 29,299 for Hays.

The official canvass was 30,739 for Alford and 29,483 for Hays. The committee threw out some ballots after examination.

Asked if the subcommittee would recommend to the parent House Administration Committee that Alford be declared the elected winner, Ashmore said:

"That's about the only conclusion that can be drawn."

He added, however, that the subcommittee probably will have another meeting before making a formal report to the full committee.

Alford, Little Rock segregationist ran as a write-in candidate against Hays, a self-styled Southern moderate. Alford entered the race just a week before the election.

Hays did not contest the election but John F. Wells, publisher of a weekly newspaper, at Little Rock, alleged there were numerous irregularities in the election.

On the basis of Wells' allegations the House Administration Committee, directed the subcommittee investigation.

Sheriff Says Newsmen Will Be Protected

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Newsmen will be protected if they cover integration at the Dollarway School near here, says Sheriff Harold Norton.

"We don't expect anybody to get hurt out there," Norton said last night. "We'll take the proper precautions."

Norton made the statement after five newsmen reported they were stoned by six students as they covered registration at the school yesterday.

Norton said the incident was grossly exaggerated.

"We patrolled that area all day," he said. "If anything happened, it was over quickly, and we got no report on it whatever."

One of the newsmen involved said he did not believe the youths were trying to hit them. The stoning occurred after an unidentified white man broke up an interview with the youths by warning them not to talk with "those nigger lovers."

The boys went to talk with the man and then began throwing rocks and calling the newsmen "nigger lovers." The newsmen ignored the boys and they left.

Norton said he probably would ask for help in policing the school area if and when classes start.

School is scheduled to open Sept. 8, but the school board has been advised by its attorneys to delay opening pending final action on an appeal of a federal court order to admit three Negroes to the 1-150-pupil all-white school.

The Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis yesterday set next Monday to hear the board's request for a stay of the integration order pending action on the appeal.

"Right now, we're counting on a delay," said Norton. "But we're making plans for school opening, anyhow."

The sheriff declined to elaborate on policing plans but said newsmen would be issued credentials and assigned to an area where they would be safe.

"But let's make it sound like we're expecting trouble, out there," he said. "We aren't."

Norton also declined to say where he intended to seek police help. Normally, a sheriff calls on the State Police or the National Guard for aid, but Gov. Orval E. Faubus has frequently said he will not use state power to enforce integration.

Norton has six deputies. The 35-man Pine Bluff police force will not be used because the Dollarway School is about one mile outside the city limits.

The Dollarway School District embraces a 26-square mile area north and west of Pine Bluff. Population of the district is about half white and half Negro.

At Little Rock, 17 miles north west of here, a 12-year-old white boy was scheduled to appear in Municipal Court today on a charge of disturbing the peace in connection with explosion of a giant, home-made firecracker at integrated Hall High Monday night.

Five Negroes are attending two once-a-week high schools in Little Rock. There have been no significant anti-integration demonstrations there since police dispersed a segregationist march on Central High when schools opened Aug. 12.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I was married in my early teens and my parents had the marriage annulled. Now I'm going with a young man who seems to have serious intentions. I hope he does because I care for him very much. Should I tell him of my early marriage now or wait until we're engaged? — Lola

Dear Lola: Tell him now. You'll feel better with it off your mind and I'm sure the young man would prefer to hear it now. Later he might feel that the confession was forced by the engagement.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Last week Jerry proposed and I accepted. We'd like to get married soon—and quietly. My mother likes to entertain and I know she'll make a Roman holiday out of my wedding. Should I tell her about my marriage before the deed is done or wait until after, when she can't make a big to-do about it? — Elsie W.

Dear Elsie: Tell Mom now, let her have fun giving you a nice wedding, then retire to your solitude. This occasion shared with your parents will be memorable for all of you. You'll never regret it, while you may well be sorry for skipping away and breaking the news later, amid tears and hurt feelings.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is never on time for dinner. He doesn't stop for a drink or anything like that but he does love to hang around the office, watching the day's doings. I've begged him to phone me, at least, but he says it's not that important. I've coaxed and scolded and served cold, dry food but he still can't change him. Every night I get so nervous over the occasion that I can't enjoy my own meal and I'm making my dear nerves, too. — Sherry

Dear Sherry: Forget it. Take consolation from the fact that eventually he does come home and he isn't having cocktails with a blonde. A husband who comes home late for dinner may be a pain in the neck but he isn't a pain in the heart. Have your own meal with the kids and keep something for him that can be served appetizingly.

Daddy's Little Girl Acts Nursemaid Role

Dear Dorothy Dix: Shortly after our marriage my husband was transferred to a city several hundred miles from our home town. I am an only child and when my mother died my father was desolate. He begged me to come back for a while, which I did, but the "while" has stretched into two years. Whenever I mention returning to my husband he sobs like a baby. My husband gets to see me only about once a month. I'm afraid I'm losing him. My father could get married, as he is still a healthy, attractive man with property. He could also hire a housekeeper. What should I do? — Alyce K.

Dear Alyce: Stop being a fool. Make the bald announcement that you're going home, pack up and get! Your father is an unreasonable, selfish man to deprive you of the happiness he knew for the sake of his comfort. He's not an invalid, not broke, well-established socially and financially, so I can't see where you owe him so much obligation. You're well on the way to losing your man just to be sure he'll have someone to look after. When father takes a notion to marry, he won't be stopped by any sense of loyalty for you. Visit him, write him, phone him, but stop coddling him.

Present World Not Bothered by Past Events

By CARL C. CRANMER
Associated Press Staff Writer

The first wagonloads of dead and wounded returned to the German border at dawn Sept. 1, 1939. Adolf Hitler had announced his invasion of Poland a few hours before. World War II — with its mountains of dead — was on.

The immediate cause was controversy over the city of Danzig and the Polish Corridor, which Hitler insisted must be reunited to his Third Reich.

A world steeped in present-day tensions finds it difficult to recapture the moods and events of that day.

Six signposts pointed to World War II — Manchuria, Ethiopia, the Rhineland, the Spanish Civil War, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Each sign, in its way, illustrated the dignity of world powers and their failure to act in time.

The first aggression was in Manchuria in September 1931. The Japanese eventually took over Manchuria and put Henry Pu-yi, a former Manchukuo emperor, on the throne.

China appealed to the League of Nations. Japan withdrew from the League. U.S. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson called for collective action, but no world power was prepared to act.

Hitler, riding a crest of massed swastikas and supported by street rowdies and storm troopers, came to power in 1933.

By that time it was clear Japan had successfully challenged the League. Hitler's fellow dictator in Italy, Benito Mussolini, presented the next challenge.

Eager to avenge old defeats and expand his empire, he attacked Ethiopia in 1935. Mussolini's ambitions directly concerned Britain and France. But France failed to support Britain.

In March 1936 Hitler's goose-stepping soldiers entered the Rhineland.

Britain's Stanley Baldwin now failed to support France. France mobilized troops along the German frontier but did not act. It was discovered later that Hitler was prepared to evacuate the Rhineland if French troops moved in.

When Mrs. Slattery looked out the window Wednesday she let out a frightened scream. She saw Bobby hanging by his neck from a clothesline.

Bobby, who is 5, had climbed on a shed, peered over the edge and tumbled onto the clothesline. Two boys moved his neck and his flailing arms and legs only increased the pressure on his throat.

George Slattery heard his wife scream, picked up a knife, ran into the yard and cut the clothesline. Other neighbors applied artificial respiration and Bobby was rushed to a hospital.

Doctors said he was rescued before serious damage was done.

Giants, Dodgers Open a 3-Game Showdown Play

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco's weary Giants, their sluggers sluggish and their National League lead shaved to two games by three losses within 24 hours, open a three-game showdown series at Los Angeles tonight against the rested second-place Dodgers.

Manager Bill Rigney, angry at being forced into a make-up afternoon doubleheader that brought a double defeat at Philadelphia Thursday, picked his ace, Sam Jones (16-12), to face Giant-killer Don Drysdale (15-9) in the series opener.

The Dodgers, 3-5 against San Francisco at the Coliseum but holding a 9-7 season edge, picked up a full game while the last place Phils swept the Giants 7-2 and 2-1. Third-place Milwaukee, 3½ games back going into a three-game series at Chicago today, gained only a half-game on San Francisco, losing 5-4 at St. Louis.

Cincinnati led Chicago for fifth beating the Cubs 5-0 in the only other NL game Thursday.

In the American League, Chicago's White Sox beat Boston 5-1 in the only game scheduled.

With the Giants losing four of their last five and their lead chopped in half in four days, Rigney didn't do much tongue biting while criticizing NL President Warren Giles in the rescheduling of Sunday's rain-out doubleheader at Philadelphia.

"You'd think we were a last place club," said Rigney, "the consideration we were given. We weren't even consulted."

The Giants, beaten 5-4 in 10 innings at Pittsburgh Wednesday night checked into Philadelphia at 2:30 a.m. Thursday and were in uniform 8½ hours later.

The Phils, who had lost six straight, beat lefty Mike McCormick (11-11) for the first time this season in the opener.

In the second game, Willie Mays smacked his 22nd homer in the first inning, but the Giants then were blanked on five hits by Don Cardwell (8-7) and Dick Farrell.

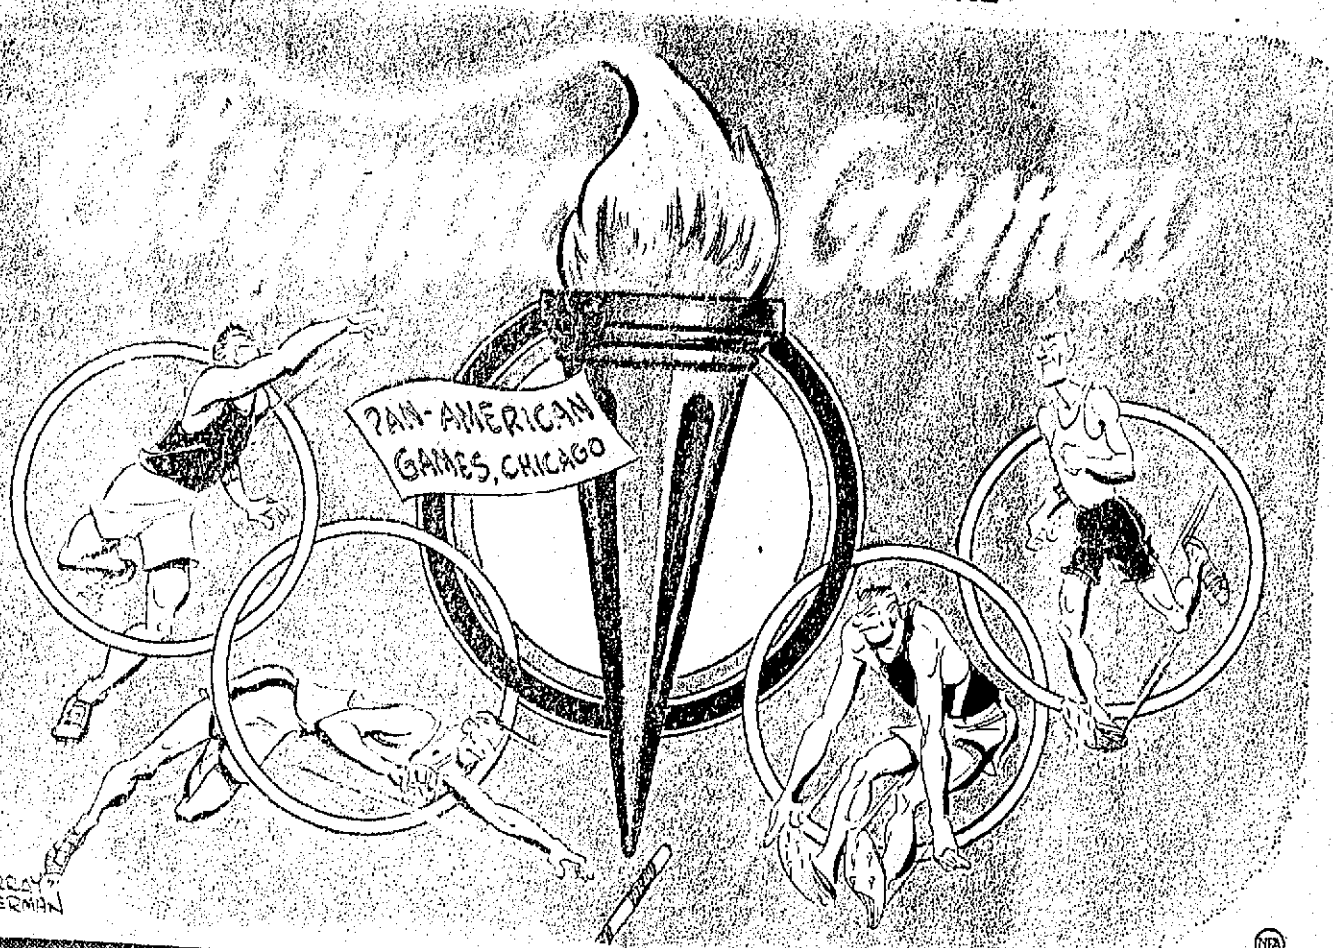

At Washington (2-5) lost it, giving up both runs in the first on a walk, Joe Koppe's single, Ed Bouche's sacrifice fly and a two-out single by Wally Post.

Ken Boyer drove in four runs, three with his 24th homer, and Joe Cunningham scored three and had four hits as the Cards knocked off the Braves after trailing 4-0.

Cunningham's triple and Boyer's sacrifice fly beat reliever Don McMahon (4-2) in the eighth. Lindy McDaniel (11-11) won it in relief, Bobby Avila and Joe Adcock homered for the Braves.

Jim O'Toole, the Reds' southpaw rookie, gained his first major league shutout with five hits and 10 strikeouts against the Cubs for a 4-7 record. Willie Jones drove in three runs, with two doubles and a walk, against loser Art Cecere (14-3).

Basilio and Fullmer in Title Match

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Carman Basilio tries to prove again tonight that a little guy can be the middleweight boxing cham-

The crazy faced union farmer from Chittanooga, N. Y., weighing about 153, tackles Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, a bull shouldered 160-pounder, in a 15-round battle to decide the National Boxing Assn. title.

Basilio stepped up from the 117-pound class when he outpointed Lt. Sugar Ray Robinson for the mid-adjutant, said the ruling would not hamper the state's armory building program.

Plenty Duck Hunting, Says G&F Official

By BOB HARING

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas should have plenty of duck hunting this winter, Game and Fish Director Nelson Cox said today.

Cox said a shorter season should not materially affect the income to the state from hunters. Duck hunters bring in several million dollars a year.

The season was cut from 70 to 40 days because drought conditions in northern breeding areas reduced duck production. The season will be from Nov. 30 to Jan. 6 this year.

A half-hour also was cut from morning shooting, with hunting to start this year at sunrise instead of 30 minutes before.

Cox said the shorter season will hurt some aspects of the hunting trade, but that most hunters who come to Arkansas on hunting vacations probably will come this year. The short season probably will mean more hunters at any one time, he said, as those who formerly spread trips over 70 days will schedule hunts within the 40-day limit.

As an example of how some tourist business will be lost due to the season cut, Cox cited a firm which usually rents an entire floor of a hotel for its salesmen, executives and guests.

This year the firm will have the hotel for 30 days less and probably will have fewer hunters.

But Cox expects the average hunter to take advantage of Arkansas duck areas. He added that more who spend a few days or weeks hunting in Arkansas make up the bulk of the duck-hunting group.

The half-hour cut in morning hunting will reduce the kill, Cox said, because the 30 minutes before sunrise is a good hunting time.

As for duck numbers, Cox hopes Arkansas will not suffer a great reduction. About a fourth of the ducks in the Mississippi flyway come to Arkansas and Cox sees no reason why they should avoid the state this year, barring unfavorable weather.

An early freeze could drive the ducks farther south he noted. That however is a hazard any year.

Famous Hurler of the 1920s Dies

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Claude Jonnard, 61, pitching member of the famed Jonnard twin brother battery of the early 1920s, died today following an operation for a heart ailment. He and his catcher brother, Clarence, were born on Nov. 23, 1897.

The two never served as a major league battery although both were in the big leagues at the same time. Claude primarily as a pitcher with the New York Giants and Clarence with the Philadelphia Phils.

Claude pitched in two games of the 1923 World Series for the Giants against the New York Yankees.

Claude once pitched for Little Rock of the Southern Assn. Until stricken three years ago, Claude was employed as a supervisor in the Giants farm system.

Indians, Chisox Also Open a 4 Game Series

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now comes the moment of truth in that American League pennant race. The Chicago White Sox, their pitching punctured, open a four-game series at Cleveland tonight with only a 1½-game edge over the streaking second-place Indians.

The White Sox added a half-game to their slim cushion over the Indians, who have won eight in a row, by whipping Boston 5-1 in the only AL game Thursday.

That left the White Sox, denied a pennant for 40 years, with a 75-51 (.595) going into the series opener. Chicago, winning nine of 14 games with the Indians, has 29 games left, Cleveland 28.

In the National League, San Francisco's worn-out Giants, forced into a make-up afternoon doubleheader at Philadelphia after an extra-inning game at Pittsburgh the night before, lost their third in a row as the last-place Phils pulled off a 7-2 and 2-1 sweep Thursday.

Third-place Milwaukee lost 5-4 at St. Louis and Cincinnati beat Chicago's Cubs 5-0.

The Indians, who lost the lead to the White Sox a month ago to night by spilling a double header into what could be a fatal four games for Chicago.

While the Sox have played 11 games in the past 10 days, winning seven, the Indians have played but nine, chopping three games off Chicago's 4½-game bulge in that span with their longest winning streak since 1956.

And while Chicago has lost southpaw Billy Pierce to injury and has found ailing Dick Donovan and over-worked Early Wynn ineffective, the Indians have perked up behind home runs and Hershman, who has taken up the slack left by Herb Score.

The White Sox made it Thursday behind Barry Latman (7-5), who had a four-hit shutout until swatted his 10th home run of the year and the 493rd of his career.

Reliever Gerry Staley, working in put it away by striking out Peto Daley and Jim Busby after Latman gave up a one-out single and walk.

Johnny Romano, giving regular catcher Sherm Lollar a rest, drove in the first three Sox runs with a pair of singles off loser Frank Bauman (15-3). Ted Kluszewski, late of the Pirates, singled twice in four trips for his first American League hits.

THE COST AIN'T HAY—Pickets at a Newport, Ky., steel plant arrive on horseback for a sit-down tour of duty. Cost of the nation's steel strike is, however, far from "hay." It is estimated that strikers and industry are losing a total of some 29 million dollars each day.

Bible Comment

A REMARKABLE RELIGIOUS EXPERIENCE

By WILLIE E. GILROY, D.D.

Recently I commented on the religious novels and movies of the late Dr. Lloyd Douglas, author of "The Robe," "The Magnificent Obsession," and other books. When I was editing "The Congregationist" on Beacon Hill in Boston, and Douglas was a minister in the middle west, he came to the "Hub" as a visitor. We went on a boat ride to Nantasket. The day and the outing were perfect and our chief interest was in intimate conversation. The outcome was that Douglas told me much of his life story. I want to recall some of it though it is not precisely in the area of "Bible comment."

During the years of our friendship, I had known Douglas as a Congregational minister of independent and liberal opinions and attitude. I knew, however, that he had been a Lutheran minister.

with undoubtedly a more orthodox and conservative attitude toward the church and religion. I wondered how he had come to be a Lutheran, and how being a Lutheran, he had renounced a prominent Lutheran pastorate to become a Congregationalist.

As Lloyd told me the story, his father, a Presbyterian, and a fellow student, a Lutheran, were deeply attached to one another. When the time came to go to college they tossed a coin, or drew lots, or in some other way, decided whether they would go to a Presbyterian or to a Lutheran college. The Lutheran won. Douglas' father finished his course at the Lutheran college and offered himself for the Lutheran ministry. He was considered unorthodox and was turned down.

In a violent reaction he quit all thought of the church and the ministry, and turned to the study of law. He was associated with Marshall, later vice president of the United States.

As Lloyd told me the story, the evangelist never turned up at the meeting. The porter substituted and preached the sermon, directed to one man, the lawyer. Under its influence Douglas had an intense, old-fashioned conversion during which he vowed that he was going into the ministry, as he had originally intended. He dedicated his newborn son, Lloyd, to fill the 25 years that he had lost.

Big Headlines in German Newspapers

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West German newspapers used their biggest type in approving headlines today on President Eisenhower's visit to Bonn.

"America Side by Side With Germany," said an eight-column banner in the mass circulation Bild Zeitung.

"We Stand Side by Side," echoed Bonn's General Anzeiger. "The Ruhr Nachrichten proclaimed 'Triumphal Visit of Eisenhower' while the Frankfurter Neue Presse bannerlined 'Hundreds of Thousands Cheer Eisenhower.'"

Many papers used half of their front pages for pictures showing Eisenhower and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer inspecting the Guard of Honor at Wahn Airfield. The welcome was "the most pompous since the Federal Weimar."

Memo to Advertisers...

Especially those who look beyond the white space of advertising columns when considering sales messages.

Your potential customers and our readers are the same people.

Your success, in what you have to say about your product or service, is directly related to the interest readers take in a publication and what it has to offer.

This A.B.C.* report tells, through audited facts, the story of our responsive circulation audience—how many people, where they live, and how they were influenced to be a part of that audience.

To learn more about your customers, and our readers, ask to see a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.
